TAXI WAR PARLEY ANNOUNCED

Slingshot Meets Operators and Commissioners Thursday

FARE RATE BOOST SNAGGED

City Manager Gets Data on Other Ohio Ordinances

Conference of city commissioners and taxicab operators will be called for next Thursday or Friday by City Manager C. A. Blumhagen to decide on the latter's proposal to increase the fare rate on the city's taxicab ordinance proposed by operators as a counter proposal to the city's demand for protection of the public by limiting the number of taxicabs in the city.

Opposition looms against a ceiling of any legislation providing for substantial fare increases. Information furnished by Manager Blumhagen indicates that the state's taxicab ordinance, which provides for a fare of $1.00 for a trip of 10 miles or less, and $1.50 for a trip of more than 10 miles, is being challenged by operators who want to raise the fare to $1.50 for a trip of 10 miles or less, and $2.00 for a trip of more than 10 miles.

Livingston, who is a member of the taxicab operators' association, said that the operators' association is not in favor of the city's proposal to increase the fare rate. He said that the operators' association is in favor of a fare of $1.00 for a trip of 10 miles or less, and $1.50 for a trip of more than 10 miles. He said that the operators' association is in favor of a fare of $1.00 for a trip of 10 miles or less, and $1.50 for a trip of more than 10 miles.

A change in the fare rate is being considered by the city commissioners. The city commissioners are considering a fare of $1.00 for a trip of 10 miles or less, and $1.50 for a trip of more than 10 miles. ### 2 LAWYERS ACCUSED OF UNPROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

CINCINNATI — Following allegations of unprofessional conduct on the part of attorneys J. T. McCondon and Louis B. Dwyer, in which they were accused of using disparaging remarks regarding judges of the Ohio supreme court and of the appellate courts, the Ohio supreme court has ordered the matter referred to a committee for investigation.

EARLY VOTE ON BONUS IN HOUSE IS ASSURED

WASHINGTON — Assurance was given Saturday by Representative Longworth, the Republican leader, that the house would have an opportunity shortly to vote on a soldier's bonus bill.

POLICE CONTINUE GUARD OVER HOSPITAL PATIENT

Police guard at City hospital over Hugh Watt, 32, of 645 N. Jefferson, who attacked his parents and two ambulance attendants Saturday night, was maintained Saturday.

Hospital attaches report the man resting comfortably with police watching to prevent any probable outbreak of violence as was reported Friday night when he is alleged to have attacked his aged parents.

NEW ASSAULT ON TAX BILL FAILS

Amendment Restoring Excess Profits Levy Voted Down

FIGHT DELAYS MEASURE

Final Ballot Not Expected for Several Days

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — The revenue bill withstood successfully all assaults in the house Saturday. The most determined attack in the form of an amendment proposing a restoration of the excess profits tax being defeated 157 to 74.

A stubborn fight for the amendment which would have been expected to pass, but it was defeated by a vote of 157 to 74.

Representative LaGuardia, Republican, New York, who had asked Secretary Mellon for his views on a compromise schedule providing for a 40 per cent surtax rate and a normal rate of five per cent on incomes above $4,000 instead of six per cent as carried in the organization measure was informed by the secretary that this plan would not provide sufficient revenue for a bonus.

However, Mellon declared also that neither the Garner schedule nor the bill, the original Mellon measure, including miscellaneous tax changes reported by the ways and means committee, would also provide sufficient revenue for a bonus.

WOUNDED SENATOR NOW EXPECTED TO RECOVER

WASHINGTON — Gradual improvement in the condition of Senator Frank L. Greene of Vermont Saturday gave ground for hope of his recovery from the wound caused by a bullet in a chest which he received last week.

PENCE FIRED AT BLACK. LOCAL POLICE ASSERT

But that William Pence attempted to take the life of Bob Black, 431 N. McDowell, at the same time he was making the attack on Mrs. Mae Harper was expressed by police Saturday.

WOMAN SHOT TO DEATH WHILE IN HER BED

WARNOCK, Ohio — Frank Neauman, 55, a coal miner, shot and killed Mrs. Julia Bolvy, 38, as she lay in bed with three of her small children early Saturday in her room in Neauman's home.

would hamper and embarrass the proposed senate inquiry.

RESIGNATION DEMANDED

Senator Borah declared that Daugherty should resign immediately "in the public interest." This, the Idaho senator said, required a personal sacrifice by Daugherty in order that the public might have confidence in the head of the department charged with responsibility for action not only in the oil cases, but in matters relating to the veterans and other bureaus.

There were many indications of a stiff fight in the case of the investigation under the Wheeler resolution. Senator Wheeler, and his associates were busy collecting ammunition, while the attorney general also was reported to be preparing for the expected assaults.

Some Republican leaders were hopeful that action by Mr. Daugherty might be taken at the hour of the opening of the senate, under the belief that Senator Wheeler would be content to drop his case on the Daugherty, in the meantime, resign. The attorney general, however, gave no indication of any change in his position and there was no sign of further immediate developments from the White House.

Public opinion leaders who have advised President Coolidge of the belief that in the general interest of the nation, also appeared content to let the case drop in the hands of the president and Daugherty, and all events to take their course so far as the senate is concerned.

Senator Borah in his address today stated his views frankly and as they were reported to have been given by President Coolidge and Daugherty in a White House conference last Sunday evening. In fact, his address was a direct challenge to the attorney general, before Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the Republican leader, and Senator Penner, Republican, Pennsylvania, went to the White House to advise the executive that Mr. Daugherty ought to be replaced.

They will be required to present copies of any telegrams which were sent from Washington to Albert B. Fall and Edward B. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post at Palm Beach, Fla., between December 20, 1932, and January 20, 1934.

WITNESSES SOUGHT IN PROBE

A thorough investigation as to what confidential administration officials have had with persons involved in the oil scandal was determined upon Saturday by Democrats on the committee.

McLEAN'S TESTIMONY

Arthur J. McLean, the committee that Fall obtained the $100,000 from him, McLean, when placed under oath by Senator Walsh, testified that he had given the one-time secretary check amounting $100,000, but that there had been returned to him unaltered with the explanation that Fall had arranged to obtain the funds from another source.

SHANK NOT TRANSFERRED TO LIMA STATE HOSPITAL

Rumors that Charles Shank, murderer of three members of the Wm. Tenwale family of near Kalida, has been transferred from the Columbus penitentiary to the Lima state hospital were denied by Dr. Charles Clark.

EXPERTS TO REPORT TO REPARATIONS BOARD SOON

PARIS — Drafting of the report of the expert commission is expected to begin early next week, final hearings on the railway, banking and budget questions having been about completed with two long sessions Saturday. It is not expected, however, that the report will be ready for presentation before two more full weeks at least.

The first thing the drafting committee will strive for is terseness and a scissors-proof coherence in order to avoid possible indications to dissect the report and accept certain recommendations and reject others. To attain this object, it is understood, the drafting committee will try to reduce the general report to two or three typewritten pages with annexes explaining in detail the outlined suggestions.

PRIMARY PLAN IN OHIO REVERSED

sent. The declaration, it was indicated, would be filed as soon as the consent arrived. Brown said, however, that he would accept a telegraphic consent on condition that it be confirmed in writing later. William declared that McAdoo would make a determined fight for the Ohio delegation. Efforts had been made by politicians, he said, to "close up" the primary and select a convention delegation which they could control.

Former Governor James M. Cox, Democratic presidential candidate in 1920, it has been indicated, also will be a candidate of Ohio. From Miami, Fla., he announced several days ago that he had agreed to enter the race.

The White candidacy, announced on Saturday by the state law enforcement bureau, administration of the state blue sky department, better care of state wards, and improved roads, came almost without warning. White, known to have been considering entering the race for some time, furnished newspapers copies of his announcement without comment and shortly afterwards filed his declaration with Secretary Brown.

The announcement generally was regarded as having a somewhat clarifying effect on conditions surrounding the Republican gubernatorial race. It was followed by considerable speculation as to what its effect might be upon other "dark" who are known to be potential candidates.

Declarations of other gubernatorial aspirants are expected to be filed before Friday, last day on which candidates may enter race. Among Republicans who have indicated they will become candidates are Senator J. F. Burke, of Elyria, and Roscoe C. McCulloch, of Canton. Burke has announced his candidacy, and McCulloch is expected to do so this week.

The ruling of the secretary of state completely reverses the rule hitherto observed in Ohio and closes the primary to candidates who cannot obtain the written consent of presidential aspirants.

The ruling was given the board of elections of Stark co., where Harry H. Weiss, Democrat, had attempted to file a declaration naming James M. Cox, first choice, and former Governor James E. Campbell, second choice, without having obtained their consent.

The primary system came into effect in Ohio in 1916. At that time it was completely reversed, the rule hitherto observed in Ohio and closes the primary to candidates who cannot obtain the written consent of presidential aspirants.

In a statement issued Saturday defending his ruling, Brown said he did not believe the legislature intended to compel a candidate to accept as a candidate for delegate, a person who is distrusted or in whom he reposes no confidence.

It is not a question of who shall be elected delegate, but who shall be elected president," Brown said. It is the intention of the law to give the people an opportunity to vote for their choice for president.

M'ADOO HITS BACK AT CRITICS

Resents Attempt to Investigate His Law Practice

PRIVATE AFFAIR, HE SAYS

Suggests All Presidential Candidates be Probed

LOS ANGELES — (Associated Press) — William G. McAdoo, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, declared Saturday that his law firm would have received a fee of $1,000,000 from the Doherty interests if its negotiations in the Doherty companies' Mexican affairs had been successful.

McAdoo made this statement in a telegram to the New York World, replying to a telegram from the World in which he said it was asserted that he had not been fully cross-examined in his recent appearance before the senate oil leasing investigating committee.

He pointed out that his law firm had accepted a fee of $100,000 from the Doherty interests for its work in the Mexican negotiations and explained that there would have been an "additional fee of $900,000 if my firm had succeeded in getting a satisfactory settlement" for the Doherty companies in Mexico.

The former secretary of the treasury said that if a congressional committee would start an investigation of all presidential candidates, he would be glad to submit himself unreservedly to such an inquiry. He asserted what he termed "a continued effort to make my private law practice a political issue," and declared:

"The matter of my employment in connection with Mexican affairs by the Doherty companies already has been covered in my testimony before the senate committee. This matter has nothing whatever to do with the naval oil lease under investigation by the senate."

He added that under his arrangements with the Doherty companies, "if my firm had succeeded in getting a satisfactory settlement of the Mexican question Mr. Doherty's companies would have paid an additional fee of $900,000. As stated to the senate committee, my firm received a fee of $100,000, but with several hundred million dollars of property at stake, our services, had they been effective, would have been lightly compensated by the additional fee."

In conclusion the statement said: "Any discussion of the business or affairs of the clients of my New York law firm, unrelated to the oil inquiry and without the permission of such clients and without the consent of my former law partners is clearly inadmissible."

"If the law practice and the private business of candidates for the presidency, Republicans and Democrats alike, are to be the issue in the forthcoming campaign, instead of principles of policies which concern the welfare and future of the American people, then I suggest that all candidates for the presidency be asked to appear before an investigating committee of the senate or the house and give the intimate details of their professional and private affairs. I will make no objection to the jurisdiction of such a committee if all other candidates will do likewise."

"Of course all this has nothing to do with the oil scandal. The real point to discover and to punish is responsible bureau officials who have betrayed the public interest and all others who have been guilty of wrong doing in this connection."

NURSERY IN NEED

Campaign to Collect $3,000 to be Launched in March

Campaign for the raising of $3,000 for the carrying on of the work of the Lima day nursery will be started the first week in March, the association in charge has announced.

It is estimated that this amount will be needed to carry on the work of the association along its present lines. Children of working mothers are cared for by the day nursery.

Popular subscription will be relied upon by the association in its campaign for funds. A general chairman will be named later and teams probably selected, it was said.

200 DEER DROWNED IN HIGH SIERRAS CANALS

GRASS VALLEY, Cal. — More than 200 deer have been drowned this winter in the cement-lined canals of a water and power company operating in the High Sierras.

The deer apparently leaped into the canals to drink and were unable to regain their footing on the cement.

MANY PRISONERS MAY BE LIBERATED SOON

LEAVENWORTH, Kans. — The hopes for early freedom of approximately 560 military prisoners in various United States prisons were raised Saturday by Major Frank B. Row and Major James Standish, members of the special clemency board who continued their hearing at the federal penitentiary here Saturday.

The board will make its recommendations for possible commutations and remissions of sentences direct to the War department.

The work of the clemency board, it was pointed out, should not be construed as forecasting blanket clemency. Some of the military prisoners, it was said, did expect little mercy because of the nature of their crimes or because of their prison records.

U. S. HOLDS 36 OF 49 AIR MARKS

America Leads in Spectacular, France in Numbers

PARIS — United States flyers hold 36 of the 49 air records ratified by the International Aeronautic Federation in its recent sitting at Paris. France has eight, Great Britain four and Italy one. In a short time, when the federation has decided to place the records of performances accomplished by refusing in flight in a separate category from the others, the United States will possess 42 of the 55 air records in existence.

French aviation experts find solace in the opinion that individual records do not prove collective superiority.

"Record achievement in aviation is merely a sign of the superiority of a certain type of machine, but not a proof that a country in general leads in that line," writes the Aéro, the latest publication dealing with sports in France.

"Because the United States possesses three or four planes capable of doing better than 400 kilometers an hour it does not follow that they have four hundred machines that can travel at 300. France has a well organized nation like the United States would require very little time to build machines of a standard type of that with which Lieke J. Williams flew at 429 kilometers. The United States could wrest the supremacy of the air from any other nation once it made up its mind to do so, but for the time being, despite records and all, France leads in aviation."

Incorporation of the Lakewood Realty Co. during the past week presages the further development of the western side of the city. Eleven acres of land are owned by the company and a number of homes will be erected as soon as possible.

Development of an ideal summer resort at Indian Lake is also proposed by the West End Realty Co. which has been a heavy investor in property west of the city.

A number of minor deals have been reported by dealers during the past week. Both vacant lots and properties are said to be moving better than in other years and an exceptionally good year is looked forward to.

KEKOWIA, HAWAIIAN KAHUNA VETERAN, DIES ON ISLAND OF MOLOKAI

HONOLULU — The ranks of the kahunas, or medicine men of old Hawaii, which have thinned steadily with the passing of the years since the white man's invasion of the islands with his accompanying civilization, have been depleted further by the recent death of Kekowia, aged Hawaiian, and one of the last of the kahunas, at his home on the island of Molokai.

In olden times the purpose of the kahuna was two-fold. Primarily his duty was to heal the sick. Secondly, he would, for a consideration, "pray to death" the enemy of any of his patients or patrons.

To perform this feat successfully it was necessary that the kahuna have some portion of the body or part of the article that had been next to the body of the person who was to be prayed to death. Usually this was a lock of hair. With this in his possession the kahuna, according to legend, would perform rites intended to result in the death of the enemy.

The residents of the islands were so superstitious that the work of the kahuna usually was effective, and the victim, as soon as he discovered that he was the object of the kahuna's curse, would waste away gradually until death, according to tradition.

OHIO BANKS GAIN $1,500,000

Increase in Resources Shown in Superintendent's Report

DEPOSITS UP $14,217,806

Financial Condition Revealed in Figures for 1923

COLUMBUS—(Associated Press)—Ohio banks gained more than $1,500,000 in resources during 1923 over the preceding year, H. E. Scott, state superintendent of banks and banking, reported in his annual statement Saturday. The actual gain in resources for the year was $1,566,948.

The state's 718 incorporated and unincorporated banks closed the year with combined resources of $1,723,887,868, the greatest ever recorded. This is shown by the call for condition as of December 31, 1923.

Deposits at the close of the year reached $14,217,806, a gain of $1,421,780 over the year. Of this sum, $7,108,927 were savings deposits, a gain of $24,848,722 in deposits since the call of September 14, 1923, and a gain of $2,721,235 since the call of December 29, 1922.

LOANS AND DISCOUNTS

Loans and discounts totaled $1,490,220,111, an increase of $13,490,220 since September 14, 1923, and an increase of $12,642,477 since December 29, 1922. Loans made on real estate amounted to $392,183,474 on December 31, last, an increase of $2,650,247, in one year.

These figures are especially significant as they show how largely and effectively state banks meet demands for funds for building, manufacturing, farming and general business requirements, Mr. Scott declared.

Holdings of state, county, and municipal bonds, and other bonds, securities of government securities, increased substantially during the year. These holdings totaled $250,000,000, a gain of $1,239,388, in a period of three months and a half, and a gain of $29,678,668, in one year.

The recommendation of the department of banks that overdrafts be curtailed to the lowest minimum being followed, the report said, the outstanding overdrafts in the volume of business of the banks, deposits were reduced $111,178 since the call of September 14, 1923, according to Mr. Scott.

Cash and reserves on hand at the close of the year were $168,497,266, an increase of $2,824,072, over the preceding call, and a gain of $2,824,072 over the call of December 29, 1922.

Capital of all state banks totaled $26,472,900, a gain of approximately $750,000 for the year.

Lima Boy Scout council leader announced today that an eight week training school for Scout leaders will open Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. with a fellowship supper. The training is without cost to the men the council desiring all cost for purchase of text books and items of instruction.

Luna B. Immigrant president of the Council and Rev. Victor A. Smith will be the opening speakers at the opening session. The school will be held on "Lima Leadership—Its Purpose and Rewards." Object of the school is to train Scout leaders in the duties of Scout leadership and to give them a greater interest in Scouting.

Prominent speakers are included on the Monday night program in the eight week course. Dr. C. C. North of Ohio State University, sociology department, is to speak Monday March 1.

Dr. C. D. Gray of Ohio Northern University has consented to speak March 10 and March 17. Prof. J. Mosely, Indiana College, is the speaker. The first assistant executive of the council, J. E. Smith, will be on the program for March 14 and April 14 at the last school session. Dr. F. Carmack, regional executive, will stress the relationship between local and national organizations. He will also award the certificate.

J. L. CABLE'S BLOC PLAN ASSAILED

New York Solon Attacks Lima Congressman's Immigration Idea

RESTRICTION IS OPPOSED

LIMA NEWS TELLS
Albee bids

An American bloc of congressmen to support the proposed restrictive immigration bill as proposed by Congressman John L. Cable of Lima may be generally supported by Ohioans, but the idea will be bitterly opposed in other quarters. This was made clear here Saturday when Congressman Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York City, while on a visit to Lima, attacked the bill in the floor of the house. LaGuardia is a member of the bloc of congressmen who are in favor of the bill.

If the congressmen from Ohio are seeking an argument, he will get all the fight he wants on the floor of the house, said LaGuardia in a stiff reply to Cable.

The New Yorker emphatically denied the implication by Cable that "foreign blocs" were organized to back restrictive immigration, saying that opposition to the limitation of immigration at this time came chiefly from Americans, who are in favor of the Republican ticket.

The immigration bill reported to the house which will be taken up after tax reduction is disposed of, provides for reduction of the number of immigrants allowed to enter the U. S. annually from approximately 57,000 to 100,000. The former number being the quota from all countries received last year under the present law. A majority of the latter would come from the countries of northern Europe, a fact which is resented by LaGuardia and other spokesmen for the opposition.

The question of immigration is a very important one, and it is one that will be discussed in the months to come. The question of immigration is a very important one, and it is one that will be discussed in the months to come.

said Representative Cable today. "Is really domestic involving American ideals and traditions. The country's immigration policy should therefore not be determined by blocs of foreign-born persons holding the balance of power in foreign districts. The future of this country depends on its citizenship, which is a non-partisan proposition."

SOUTH FIGHTS FOR GOOD ENGLISH

Several Educational Programs Feature Special Week
DRAMATIC SOCIETIES BUSY
Other Clubs Busy On Plans For Future Work

With the passing of good English week, the students of the South have decided to make every week a better English week and in this way better Americanize the youth of the South. The spirit of the week was given by different programs given by different clubs.

The English program in the form of a short play, "William Shakespeare's Julius Caesar," was given by the South. The play was humorous and well given.

The English program, "The Trial of Socrates," was given by the South. The trial was in the shape of a play and was given by the South. The trial was in the shape of a play and was given by the South.

All clubs have been returned from the engravings and most of the write ups are in, according to John Rothblat, editor in chief. The annual will probably go to press some time in April.

The Sophomores seem to be strong contenders for the inter-class basketball championship. Thus far they have won two rounds of the inter-class tournament. They took the second round last Thursday night by defeating the Seniors, 9 to 5.

1924 AUTO SHOW IS HISTORY

SHATTER ATTENDANCE MARK

Salvos of Noise Bring Annual Event to Fitting Close

All good things must have an end, and auto shows are no exception to the rule.

Amid deafening salvos from the scores of machines that filled the Timmerman-bldg., Lima's 1924 automobile show came to a fitting close Saturday night and left a mark for future exhibitions to shoot at.

Five days of unprecedented interest in automobiles as far as Lima concerned came to a close when the doors swung shut on what dealers and visitors unanimously agreed was the most successful event of the kind this section of the state ever has had.

Throughout the exhibition there was but one discordant note—the inaugural day weather. Had it not been for Tuesday's afternoon's combination of now sleet rain and slippery walks, consensus of opinion is the total attendance record would have been boosted by several hundred. As it was last year's mark was exceeded by from 1,600 to 1,800.

Dealers Saturday night looked back upon the exhibition as an event of unusual importance. They pointed to the enthusiasm and interest of visitors, including car owners and prospective buyers, together with the many inquiries made and sales started and sales closed.

They also saw in the get-together phases of the show a resultant spirit of understanding that bodes well for the community as a whole and for the automobile trade in particular.

"Everyone of us have made sales, most of us more than we expected," commented one dealer. "All of us made friendships and new acquaintances and, leaving the business element out of it entirely, I think we all got something out of the show we would not sell."

Manager H. H. Phillips to whom the dealer was speaking readily agreed with him and expressed his entire satisfaction with the results. He congratulated the public on the degree to which they showed their appreciation of the show and expressed his own personal satisfaction with the manner in which the dealers and the auto club and all others cooperated in harmony with him.

Staged by the Lima Automobile dealers association and the Great American Mutual Indemnity Co., the exhibition commended itself to many as an example in cooperation.

Every day at the show was a "special day" and Saturday was given over to fraternalities. It brought the biggest total attendance of any day of the campaign, the greatest enthusiasm, the most sales and the most noise.

The climax came with the noisy finale shortly after 10 p. m. every horn on every automobile in the show building joining in the raucous din that marked the exhibition's close.

NEELY CANDIDATE FOR DELEGATE

St. Mary's Man Will Support Cox if Successful

With the approach of the presidential campaign, political talk in this district is "looking up." The principal discussion just now is concerning the delegates to the national convention.

Announcement was made yesterday by E. G. Neely of St. Mary's that he will be a candidate for delegate to the Democratic convention.

Neely is well known in the district, being connected with the oil business in his home city. He is a supporter of J. H. Cox.

It is known will also be a candidate for delegate to the Democratic convention from this district.

and he too, will support Cox, if chosen.

J. H. Goetz, prominent Lima attorney, will be a candidate for delegate to the convention.

On the Republican side J. E. Galvin, steel magnate, is mentioned as a delegate and has been endorsed by the leaders of his party.

COUNTY TO IMPROVE NINE ROADS IN EACH TOWNSHIP

Nine roads are to be selected in each township in Allen county for improvement by the county under the plans worked out with township trustees in the past week.

The balance of the highways in each township are to be improved or repaired under supervision of the trustees out of township road funds. Each township receives one half of the automobile license tax from cars within its bounds to be used on the roads. They also receive certain other moneys from the county fund.

A partial list of the roads to be taken over by the county has been made up.

Spring Modes for Children

Fashion News of Palm Beach Children

Children of fashion at Palm Beach wear, with a carefree American grace, clothes that have a French charm. Little girls, like their mothers, are simply and appropriately dressed.

The linen coat is a fashion note for the little girl and sometimes for the little boy of 2 to 6. Double-breasted with big pearl buttons and often with a linen hat to match usually in color. Gloria Caruso also wears such a coat in white with its matching linen rolled brimmed hat. She also wears her dresses very, very short—very far above her knees. And the majority of Palm Beach children agree with her.

A most striking fashion in children's clothes is the adoption of a little boy's suit by many little girls. And these little girls may be as old as 10 years. It's a favorite beach costume—little boy's suit with a middy type of blouse that slips over or fastens just like men's bathing shirts. Patricia Ziegfeld, Hollis Burke's daughter, wears an 8 year-old size in one of these small boy's suits when we see her playing in the sand. A camel's hair golf sweater covers up its middy blouse and tones in with her red shingle bob.

In the clothes worn by the girls from 10-14 we discover that self-trimming is the most French and the most distinctive trimming. We see two sisters 8 and 10 years old, sitting side by side in a Palm Beach wheel chair bound for the lake trail. And their coats and hats are both trimmed with loops of self-material. Applique is another self-trimming note that is just as popular for children as for their elders.

Moss green is one of the best high colors—worn by more children than grown-ups. The rose and flame shades are also very much worn, and the cool dress in these tones is especially important for all children now.

In our store we have just received these pretty little dresses in lavender, orange, blue, pink green and white trimmed in many shades. Just the thing for children from 2 1/2 years of age. Priced at $4.50 and up.

New children's furniture is another feature in our children's department. In ivory and white kiddie cup, toilet sets and beds.

A new little dress named the Paddy Dress. In new spring shades of pink, green, blue, yellow and tan. Tailored of figured lace trimmed in plain colors and embroidered in black. Another model of the dress is of a new complemented by a pretty flared material in red, blue and rose.

New styles in Spring coats are also to be found. Youthful lines in Polara and Polo in all of fashion's colors.

The very long waisted gingham dress with bloomers is another mandate of fashion for little folk. With the prettiest touches of hand embroidery. They are unusually well made—really perfect in workmanship.

For the baby too. The daintiest hand made or machine made dresses and petti-coes are here for your baby. All sizes up to 2 years. New bed pads, carriage pads and lap pads from $2.00 up.

From Japan have come dainty baby's silk crepe shoes. Embroidered with dainty touches of color. In slippers, moccasins, or shoe effects at $1.19.

The newest thing in silk crepe and satin quilted robes. A large assortment in the prettiest lots.

Our Children's Department is quite the most complete in the city. Visit us before deciding upon anything for the wee baby or small child.

CENTRAL SENIOR WINS CONTEST

Myron Easton's Essay Brings Him Luth Week Prize

Myron Easton, senior at Central high school, the best essay writer in Lima. His essay, "Why Truth Should Be Told in Advertising," was selected from nearly 100 as the best in the prize essay contest conducted by Lima Business and Professional Women's club in connection with Luth Week.

Mrs. Lou Moebus, 310 W. Elm-st., and Esther Ridenour, 513 S. Central, were given favorable mention by Judges Rev. W. H. Howard, R. R. Dunn and Ira E. Wagner.

The prize winning essay written by the school boy follows:

Advertising is the mouth-piece of business and the means by which the business man conveys ideas to his prospective customers. Thus he promotes his business and proves a help to the persons interested in his line.

The time has come when an advertiser must use great care in the preparation of his ad, if he retains the respect of the public. Untruthfulness in advertisements may prove a menace to himself, to his competitor and to the public. Untruthfulness in advertising is a crime, for by branding him an unreliable man; to his competitor, by producing a doubt in the public mind, and to the public, by putting before it misrepresented goods.

Organized clubs and associations are working to eliminate this objectionable form of advertising and the supreme court has taken a stand against it by deciding strongly in favor of truth in advertising. This decision states that an advertiser has no right to raise false expectations on the part of a customer, or to present virtues the goods do not possess. In this way, both the public and reliable competitors are protected.

Truth in advertising, as in other affairs of life, insures confidence. Confidence insures customers and customers insure success to the advertiser.

IRISH BANKER PREDICTS FREE STATE PROSPERITY

LONDON—An era of prosperity for Ireland is dawning, says Richard D. Trotter, head of the Provincial Bank of Ireland, and furthermore Irish bankers are ready to stand behind the Free State in its policy for the complete reconstruction of Ireland.

In speaking recently before a meeting of London bankers, Trotter said: "The gratifying response to the issue of the Irish Free State loan has supplied a most encouraging evidence of a growing spirit of confidence in the stability of the Free State and its government, and that feeling will be carried further when due importance is attached to the assurances of the president and his responsible ministers of their intention effectively to regulate state expenditure and income until the national budget is balanced."

Trotter added that the government has shown itself strong, firm and sympathetic, with the result that the majority of the people were with it, and most citizens respected the law.

As for the bride, one of Nebraska's best known women lawyers, she is ready to do the heirs battle. And her aged husband isn't worried at all.

"Let 'em do what they can," he says. "I've fixed 'em. I'm old enough to know what I want and how to take care of myself."

HUME SEES WAY TO SAVE CASH

City Purchasing Agent Would Buy Materials Now

Savings to the city of between $3,000 and $6,000 on 647 tons of cast iron pipe for water main extension in 1924 will be effected with immediate purchase on quotations received Friday afternoon, Purchasing Agent Frank Hume, declares.

Bids received on waterworks extension material total approximately $64,255, including the purchase of 647 tons of cast iron pipe, 36,000 pounds of pig lead, 97,000 pounds of lead pipe, 221 valves, 1,000 curb boxes, 1,000 sets of brass goods, 43 new fire hydrants, 14 tons of fittings and valve boxes.

Sharp rise in the cast iron pipe market is predicted within the next week and before the expiration of two months quotations are expected to advance $10 to 15 on the ton, due to unprecedented demand. Purchasing Agent Hume announced.

Material for watermain extensions is not required immediately but to save money City Manager C. A. Bingham will petition city commissioners Monday night to authorize the purchase of all material needed for the 1924 program.

LORD'S DAUGHTER WORKS AS "SALLY" IN SLUMS

LONDON — In a small house in a back street of the poor district of Barking lives the Hon. Anne Baring-Kinnaird, eldest daughter of Lord Kinnaird. She is a captain in the Salvation Army, and for two years has forsaken the luxury of the family mansion in the west-end, to work among the poor people of the Barking slum district.

Miss Kinnaird refuses to be treated differently to thousands of other Salvation Army girl officers. Her commanding officer is Lord in her praise and says Captain Kinnaird simply lives for her friends in the slums.

One grateful woman remarked recently: "She's a real bit of sunshine from another world, and we are glad and proud to have her among us."

DARK, DIRTY STREETS

THREATS are made at City Hall that lights will be turned off and the streets allowed to become filthy if payment is started to block assessments for street lighting and cleaning. This drastic action will hardly be necessary, we believe.

If the assessments for this necessary work are stopped by law, there would be little left for the city to do but shut off the lights and let the dirt pile up on the thoroughfares. There is no money from general taxation to take care of this work and it must be paid for by property owners if it is to be done.

It would appear that we are pretty heavily taxed as it is, but in reality we are not so oppressed in this respect as some other Ohio cities. We must pay the bill if we are to have a good city and continue to prosper. It has been expensive sometimes, but it is worth every cent of it if we can keep the old town making ahead and our property increasing in value.

There is a matter we must not overlook. When we point out the rapid increase in taxes, we should stop to consider the rapid increase in the value of our houses or business block or vacant lot or whatever we might own. Viewed from that angle, we are not hit as hard as we like to believe at times.

TOO MUCH OIL

WITH one member of the Coolidge cabinet having resigned and another under fire in the disclosures attending the naval oil reserve lease scandals, official Washington continues in a turmoil, while Teapot Dome, Wyoming, is the biggest spot in the news from day to day.

Despite the fact that U. S. Senator F. B. Willis described the secretary of the navy as "Big, honest Ed Debby," that same director of the country's first line of defense has been forced to resign. The attorney general appears to be next to walk the plank. United States senators, members of the president's cabinet, influential newspapers and private citizens everywhere are demanding that Harry Daugherty, of Ohio resign. He refuses. However, Debby also refused to do so—but he did.

Daugherty declares he will not quit under fire. The president has not demanded his resignation. Probably will not, until the demand is so strong that he cannot escape doing so. Whether there was actual pilfering of the public purse in the oil lease manipulations, remains to be disclosed, but the stench is such that it behoves President Coolidge to act on his own initiative, and not wait until forced by public sentiment to do so.

Reproach brought upon the Republican national administration by men who are charged with misappropriation of power and authority, inevitably will reflect in the administration as a whole, so long as President Coolidge remains in a reluctant attitude. Coolidge appears to be more concerned about his own election to the presidency than in evidencing a really earnest effort to purge his administration of those who are proving to be a liability rather than an asset to him.

While it is not fair that men should be sentenced before being found guilty, President Coolidge cannot afford politically to carry a dead weight. If Hiram Johnson should force Coolidge into oblivion in the Cleveland convention, the New Englander will have only himself to blame. He is facing a crisis.

SCHOOLS IN DIRE STRAITS

WHILE walls are being heard from various parts of the state concerning inability of boards of education to continue school terms for a legal period of 32 weeks, due to lack of finances, it is worthy to mention that no such complaint has been formally made from Allen Co.

Closing of the Newton centralized school in Miami Co., said to be the largest institution of its kind in Ohio, was due mainly to disapproval by the taxpayers of an extra three-mill levy above all limitations for operating expenses last fall, by a vote of two to one, and to the increased financial burden brought about by the erection of a building and equipping it, Involving the expenditure of $200,000, it is now disclosed.

The Ohio Department of Education has repeatedly pointed out how boards of education may avert the closing of schools, without the necessity of a session of the legislature to provide relief. While the Newton school is the only one that has actually been closed for the reasons stated others are on the "ragged edge," but are expected to escape the necessity of locking the doors.

The state department of education is giving yeoman service to school boards that are "all at sea" as to which way to turn in their dilemma. There are provisions of the law, created for emergency cases, that will fit every individual school, no matter how dark the outlook may be, if school boards but employ the means at hand.

In the case of the Miami Co. school, it would appear that the people of the district lost sight of the fact that those who would seek help should first help themselves. Despite the fact that it was patent additional funds would be necessary if the school was to be continued after February 1st, they refused to sanction a levy that would provide it. They voted no, and trusted to luck but luck was against them.

State officials are being importuned to get the legislature in session to afford relief. It isn't likely their plea will be productive of results.

COX A CANDIDATE

AUTHORITATIVE announcement from former Gov. James M. Cox, of Dayton, received from Miami, Florida, that he has consented to the use of his name by his friends in Ohio, as their first choice as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the presidency, in seeking to file their declarations as candidates for delegates, has removed all element of doubt about his intentions.

It has been known for weeks that the Dayton man would permit candidates for delegates to use his name as their choice, in complying with the election laws of the state, but premature announcement made in Cleveland precipitated formal disclosure of his plans. Now that the lid is off, activity in behalf of giving the 1920 standard bearer a solid delegation from his home state will be more pronounced than ever.

First flurry of the statement from Cleveland concerning blanks having been sent out in behalf of Gov. Cox, indicated a howdydo that might involve the Democratic state central and executive committees, working for the Dayton man, without having formally endorsed his candidacy, as was done by the Republican committee in behalf of President Coolidge.

The real facts in the premises are, it is disclosed, that what has been done by the committee in behalf of Gov. Cox has been done as individuals. Canvass of the committee shows that there is unanimous sentiment for Cox among the members of the committee, all other candidates and their friends to the contrary notwithstanding.

Governor Cox has been in the position of preferring that his friends take his interests in hand, rather than that he should flash himself before the public as a seeker of the nomination. He clearly enunciated his well fixed principles in a recent rally of party adherents at Columbus. He laid the cards on the table concerning his position on the League of Nations and other issues, then awaited the verdict as to whether his party desires him as its candidate.

CHANCE TO DO GOOD

SONG and music writers' royalties have been cut in half by radio competition, their organization claims. It continues its wrangle with broadcasting stations about payments for music sent by radio.

Eventually radio will have to be endowed, to provide suitable entertainment, unless broadcasting stations are reduced to half dozen or so. Step forward, millionaires, who want to do some real good.

Teacher in Indiantown, Fla., says the earth is flat, reminding us Voliva hasn't had any publicity in a long time.

shower of warm rain-drops. Thence, to the diner, missing eggs and bacon, with cakes by four minutes. Breakfasted on red radishes, rolls and Java. The skies clear. The wind dies. The shower is over. The mercury touches 68, then 72, and coaxes its upwardness. My wife, poor wretch, to the hair-dresser's, and I to the Old Ladies section on the old-fashioned front porch of the terrace.

Mrs. Jones, of Philadelphia, is talking. And sailing, Saturday for her home in Poughkeepsie. She has lost ten quarts of Scotch which she has promised to two deacons in her church. She has also tried to buy a ripe Bermuda banana. Which simply isn't done. Did you know that each bunch of bananas costs the life of the poor mother tree? Never shall I enjoy a banana again. Knowing the sacrifice.

San bathed. A white wing clean as the coral-paves. In overalls, hawbeit. And with the last shovel safely in his push cart. Gazes longingly at feminine attire in the shoppe windows. There is amour even in white wings.

Bermudians are proud of the family name. Ancestry. L. T. Butter-

He learned in Rotary one was called by his first name. And here, a member is fined six pence if you say "Mister." I paid two fines making a five minute talk. Albert, when the president said "Leander" to Mr. Butterfield. That patrician all but died. He left in a huff claiming no Butterfield had been other than "Mr" for four generations. His resignation was handed President Jack yesterday. Ain't human nature marvellous?

Dined lightly on goose, with orange sherbert and Edam cheese. Played two rounds of Mah Jong with my Poughkeepsie ladies. Then read awhile in the "Able McLaughlin." Until prairie life became too cruel.

Thither to the grille, but few about. So on a beaker of grape, early to bed.

TREATMENT OF GALLSTONE DISEASE

The time to treat gallstone disease or inflammation of the gall-sac is in the stage when it is uncertain whether the symptoms are really due to gall-sac trouble. A glass of hot water sipped slowly on rising and at bed time, and plenty of cold water between meals, will prevent more trouble than gallons of mineral water taken later on as a forlorn remedy.

Two gallstones come high, we don't have to have them. Why are the great majority of cases in women, 90 per cent of them in women who have had children? Why is typhoid fever such a feature of the history of gallstone disease? Women are inclined to drink insufficient water, from habit and for the sake of avoiding the inconvenience resulting therefrom. Women get less exercise, especially insufficient walking in the open air, when pregnant. Sedentary habit and inadequate liquid intake predispose to gallstones. Typhoid germs are always eliminated thru the gall-sac in typhoid fever; not strange that a few should remain there if the bile apparatus is torpid. But there is no reason why expectant mothers should not take a daily walk thruout the waiting period; in fact this is the best assurance of a normal labor. Typhoid fever is now as unnecessary for the individual, as in smallpox. And as for neglected teeth and Riggs' disease and infected tonsils—portals of entry for other germs which produce gallstones—all of these are preventable or curable. If not allowed to go too far.

Both as prevention and as treatment of a suspected case of gall-sac trouble, the following measures are valuable:

1. A diet containing a minimum of meat and a maximum of fresh fruits. The less meat a race consumes the less prevalent are appendicitis, gastric ulcer and gall stones. A bulky, largely vegetable diet overcomes intestinal stasis (constipation) in nature's way.

2. At least three pints of water each day, besides the liquid in or with regular food. One can scarcely drink too much.

3. If constipation is not prevented by the two measures just mentioned a few doses of paraffin oil (liquid petrolatum, U. S. P.) should be taken each day as an intestinal lubricant, instead of physics.

4. Either walking, room gymnastics, golf, tennis, bicycling or some other form of active exercise should be enjoyed every day, rain or shine. If not enjoyed, then taken. Unfortunately we have not yet perfected a form of exercise suitable for hypodermic administration.

There is but one cure for established gallstones. The cure is at least safer than the disease. In the hands of a good surgeon it is as safe as the operation for appendicitis. (Copyright, 1924)

TWO LIMA YOUTHS GET PAROLES

Recommendation for Release Made by Prosecutor

Paroles were granted Saturday by the state clemency board to two Lima youths serving time in Mass-field reformatory. The two are Herb Ramey, convicted of stealing a car from the Ford Sales company, who will be released March 1, and Morris Morrissey, convicted of stealing express packages from the platform at the Pennsylvania station. His parole will be effective April 15. Recommendation for the paroles were made by Prosecuting Attorney Eugene T. Lippincott. Morrissey was assisted by a confederate. He took the express from a truck on the station platform and dropped the packages down to a man called "Shorty, the Bum," who was posted beneath the Union-st viaduct. "Shorty" was not captured. All told the board granted paroles or conditional releases to 41 inmates of the Ohio reformatory. The cases of 26 others were continued.

INTERESTING NEWS CONCERNING THE AUTOMOBILE WORLD

SPECIAL FINISH ON OLDSMOBILE SIX

Automobile bodies, enamelled in color, with all the resultant glaze and long wearing quality—characteristic of the common black enamel finish, are now for the first time made possible, thanks to the perfection of a new process by the Oldsmobile Works, Lansing, Mich.

The announcement of this important and advanced step in automobile manufacturing was made public by the Oldsmobile Works until the success of this process had been assured. The development of years of experiment and months of testing, for a color enamel for Oldsmobile, is a triumph which has been tried in a simulated engine green body of metal.

Black has hitherto been the standard color for automobiles, only because it could be baked on cheaper and quicker. The same enamel with color, when baked, would come out in red and black, after being cured in the oven, the temperature of the baking oven. The only method of body finishing that would give a glossy finish in color was the ordinary and familiar one of paint and varnish—a long and relatively expensive procedure.

This development of colored enamel that will withstand the heat of baking oven has caused a revolution of thought and belief in the paint industry. At the beginning of the development, when officials of the Oldsmobile Works made known their wants, both paint and varnish makers said it could not be done—and it could not with the materials and ideas then in use. But constant experimentation along new lines, and finally the trying out of China wood oil, or Tung oil, made success possible.

The new color enamel itself is somewhat more expensive than the black, but the difference in price is not sufficiently great that the quantity used on one automobile body is reflected in the selling price of the finished car. It is applied in practically the same manner as the black enamel and is passed thru the same ovens and subjected to the same degrees of heat.

Compared to the ordinary paint and varnish finishes, the colored enamel process has many points in its favor. It requires but nine hours to completely finish a body by the new process, whereas the shortest time possible with a paint and varnish job is ten days. It can be readily seen that great savings are effected. Much less floor space is, of course, required, materially reducing cost of handling. Colored enamel is also a great improvement over black enamel for the reason that it is more elastic and therefore less liable to injury. Ordinary scratches can be removed by rubbing without the necessity of repainting. It also is superior to paint and varnish as it cannot crack or peel, as does the harder surface, yet at the same time has as lustrous a finish.

The perfection and introduction of this new body finish is another economic innovation which has made it possible for the Oldsmobile Works to produce a six-cylinder car at the lowest price ever before offered the public.

OUTLOOK FOR 1924 CHEVROLET

The outlook for Chevrolet in 1924 is that this will be by far its best year, holding unexcelled opportunities. During 1923 the organization strongly emphasized its self in enlarged and improved sales and service facilities, increased capitalization, and larger and better organizations.

The program for 1924 was adopted early in the fall of 1923, and is going forward as per schedule.

The resignation of Colin Campbell as general sales manager has not in any way modified the program.

DAWSON IN CHARGE

C. F. Dawson, formerly assistant general sales manager, has been in active charge of the sales campaign for months, while Mr. Campbell was visiting the various zone offices and attending dealer meetings. As acting general sales manager he will direct the completion of the 1924 program along the established lines with the full cooperation of all departments.

Mr. Dawson's years of varied experience in the automobile business as a retail dealer, factory branch manager, territory representative, zone sales manager, and assistant general sales manager warrant the fullest confidence in his ability to direct the well-organized Chevrolet sales.

Our greatly enlarged production facilities are in full operation and will attain the planned maximum about March 1.

AUTOS GOING SOUTH
South America during 1923, received more than half a million automobiles from the United States, Canada, France, Germany, England, Italy and Belgium. Yet this country contributed nearly as much as all the others combined.

COSTS GOING UP
Cost of automobiles and trucks, and expenditures on their maintenance will amount to twelve billion dollars, statisticians estimate. This will be $2,000,000,000 more than the expenditure in 1923 and more than half the national debt of the United States.

KEEP MOTOR COOL
When hot weather comes, remember this tip: apply a coat of aluminum paint to the under side of the top and a white reflecting paint to the upper side. Thus, says Dr. W. W. Coblentz of the U. S. Bureau of Standards, the hot sunlight would be reflected, instead of being absorbed and radiated down upon the passengers.

OAKLAND COST IS LESS THAN 1913

"The motor car is one of the very few commodities that can be purchased today for less than in 1913, before the war."

"This fact has never been brought home to the public, yet it explains in great measure the sale of more than 4,000,000 vehicles in 1923, which is 20 per cent ahead of any preceding year," points out C. J. Neffler, general sales manager of the Oakland Motor Car company.

"The striking fact of the low price of automobiles today has been brought out thru figures supplied by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce which show that automobiles, tires and gasoline actually cost less today than before the war."

"Today you can purchase 111 cents worth of automobile, 191 cents worth of gasoline and 123 cents worth of tires with your 1913 dollar, despite the fact that you can get only 61 cents worth of general merchandise."

"Today you can purchase 114 cents worth of Oakland with the 1913 dollar."

were 40 per cent higher in price than the models we put out then than the greatly improved new Oakland.

"The pre-war dollar is worth today only 34.6 cents in clothing, 65.5 cents in food, 61.2 cents in rent, 42 cents in farm and 46.3 cents in brick buildings."

"Furthermore, the current models of motor vehicles and the present type of tires are far better than 10 years ago, even at the lower prices prevailing today."

"The motor car industry has met the problem of higher labor, materials and tax expenditure by the economies of large scale production, reducing prices in confidence that the public would respond to the exceptional value. That the public has actually done so is a matter of automotive history."

"Twenty-eight per cent of all cars registered in Canada are General Motors cars. In 1923, there were shipped from the plant of General Motors of Canada, Limited, at Oshawa, Ont., 50,000 cars, of which 65 per cent were exported to 64 countries overseas."

Stockholders in General Motors number more than 68,000 men and women, resident in every state, in Canada and in many other countries.

PAIGE AND JEWETT SALE IS RECORD

The first sensational increase in production to be announced by any of the automobile companies during 1924 was that of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company which built more Paiges and Jewetts in January than any previous month in its history, according to an announcement last week by Harry M. Jewett, president.

The total production was 5451 Paiges and Jewetts during January, the Paige Company announces. This compares with 3429 Paiges and Jewetts built in January, 1923, and is larger than the previous record breaking month in Paige history when 5119 cars were built in May, 1923.

The opening of the new Jewett plant during January was responsible for the material increase in production, stated Mr. Jewett. He also announces a tentative schedule for production of 6,500 Paiges and Jewetts in February.

"This extraordinary January demand indicates to us that the new Paige at its new price is as successful as the Jewett," states the Paige president. "The Jewett has settled into a steady healthy growth. With 75,000 Jewetts now in the hands of owners, this six cylinder car has proven its value."

"At the new price at which we are offering the Paige it is a distinctly more attractive motor car than ever before. We have seen our belief in its attraction for the public in the January shipments."

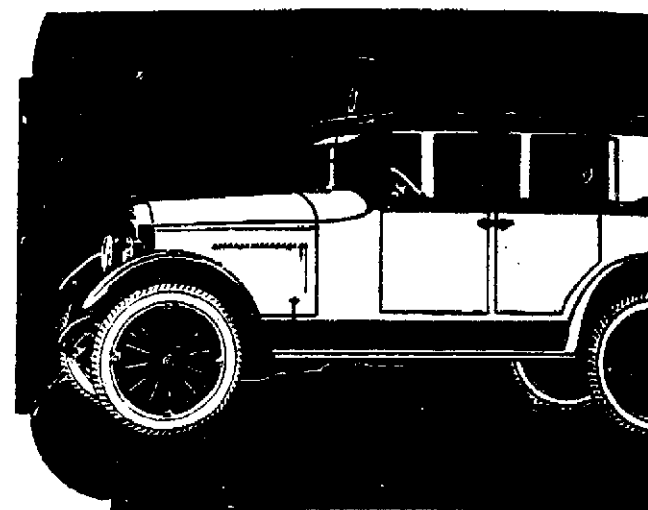

Fourteen weeks are required to complete the body for one Cadillac car; and for every one completed, 120 are in process. This necessitates factory space, a high type of craftsmanship and large financial resources. In these three essentials the Fisher Body corporation, one of the affiliated group of General Motors organizations, enjoys the distinction of leadership.

The Fisher Body corporation, with headquarters in the General Motors building, Detroit, recently made a purchase of 100,000 acres of standing hardwood timber, in the states of Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi. Officials of the company conservatively estimate that the tracts purchased will yield over 750,000,000 feet of lumber annually; 95 per cent of it is known to be of the kinds most suitable for the manufacture of automobile bodies.

General Motors in the automotive industry is a $25,000,000, which was brought from the United States of General Motors, have a value of 900,000 annually.

SCREEN VERSIONS OF NOTED AUTHORS' WORKS COMING HERE

WELL KNOWN PICTURE STARS WILL SHINE ON LOCAL SILVER SHEETS

"West of the Water Tower" Comes to Quilna; "Enemies of Women" Is Majestic Attraction and Rialto Has "Men in the Raw"

BY GERTRUDE GILLHAM

A SURVEY of the week's calendar of screen attractions shows that while several screen celebrities of note will appear, there are also several offerings which boast strong stories by famous authors.

The Quilna's picture for the week should attract much attention. In addition to being a new Paramount picture, adapted from a famous novel by Homer Croy, "West of the Water Tower" boasts a remarkable cast. Glenn Hunter, famous young actor of "Merton of the Movies"; Ernest Torrence, one of the most talked of players in motion pictures, who won immense popularity in "The Covered Wagon" and "Ruggles of Red Gap"; May McAvoy and George Fawcett have the principal roles. The story deals with small town folk and is said to outlive "Main Street."

A screen version of Vincent Blasco Ibanez's latest novel, "Enemies of Women," opens a three day engagement today at the Majestic theatre. Lionel Barrymore, Alma Rubens and William Collier, Jr., head the all-star cast. This will be followed on Wednesday and Thursday by "The Heart of Wotona," starring Norma Talmadge, while the remainder of the week will bring "The Steadfast Heart," featuring Mary Alden.

The Rialto is offering Jack Hoxie in his latest Universal thriller, "Men in the Raw," today and Monday.

MAJESTIC SCHEDULES THREE GOOD PICTURES

"Enemies of Women" Opens Week and Will Give Way to Norma Talmadge

THIS week at the Majestic promises to be a very entertaining one with three good photographs on the calendar. The first is "Enemies of Women," which opens a three-day stay this afternoon. Norma Talmadge, appearing Wednesday and Thursday and the final offering of the week will be "The Steadfast Heart," with Mary Alden and Marguerite Courtot.

"Enemies of Women" is a film version of Vincent Blasco Ibanez's novel of the same name and is said to be one of the most artistic and lavishly produced yet made by Cosmopolitan Productions. In order to have the locations in the picture entirely accurate, the entire company was sent to Europe and spent six weeks in Monte Carlo, Nice and Paris where the action of the story takes place.

The story concerns Prince Michael Lubimoff, who has lived his useless life so fully that there are no thrills left for him. His extravagance, his escapades in his Moscow palace have made him the talk of Europe. To one of his spectacular and sensuously arranged receptions comes Alicia, Duchess de Lille, a noted beauty whose reputation for amorous adventures rivals his own. An unexpected thrill is provided for the guests when a Cossack officer breaks into the palace and challenges the Prince to a duel for the betrayal of his sister. The Cossack is killed and Lubimoff badly wounded. As duelling has been banned by the Emperor, Alicia places Lubimoff in her car and succeeds in smuggling him out of Russia to Monte Carlo. The Prince is greatly attracted by Alicia, but meeting at her villa, her sixteen-year-old son whom she has been concealing, he takes him for a youthful lover of the Duchess and desirously takes his leave.

How the affairs between the Prince and Alicia are straightened out in the end forms a dramatic and affecting climax to the picture.

The cast includes Lionel Barrymore, Alma Rubens, Garth Hughes and William Collier, Jr., as well as many other prominent artists.

RIALTO PATRONS SEE "MEN IN THE RAW"

Foster's Magazine Tale Shows for Two Days Along With Two-Reel Comedy

THRILLS and romance, laughs and sensations—these all run the gamut in "Men in the Raw," Jack Hoxie's new starring vehicle now playing at the Rialto theatre. It is a story of laughs interspersed with gasps. And the charming love story that threads its way thru the plot is a pleasing relief.

The story is an adaptation of W. Bert Foster's well known magazine tale, and George Hively, who adapted it, makes an excellent offering out of the swift moving story which is a remarkably acceptable vehicle for Hoxie.

The cowboy star stages a thrilling battle, under water, with the villain, following a chase across the river and an encounter in mid-stream. He rescues the heroine from peril by bulldozing a steer and does many daring feats. Besides these scenes, there is a mad dash for liberty, over snow, and other gripping actions which keep his audiences on edge.

The scenery is beautiful, the play being laid in a great Sierra plateau near Lone Pine, a station on the Southern Pacific in the very heart tion has been under the direction of A. M. Finckh, assisted by Father Penefall.

Performances will start at 8 p. m. There will be a special matinee for children Sunday at 3 o'clock.

BIGIN HERE TODAY

Colonel Holmes, soldier of fortune, returns to England the land of his birth, when war is declared with the United States. He comes to lodge with Martha Quinn, wealthy hostess of the Paris Hotel, in London. He is a man of the English army because of the name of Randolph Holmes, but he is on the want for the execution of the late king.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Mrs. Quinn, I will be frank. My affairs have gone awry through no fault of my own. I am a man of the English army because of the name of Randolph Holmes, but he is on the want for the execution of the late king. I am a man of the English army because of the name of Randolph Holmes, but he is on the want for the execution of the late king."

"But she said, 'I am a man of the English army because of the name of Randolph Holmes, but he is on the want for the execution of the late king. I am a man of the English army because of the name of Randolph Holmes, but he is on the want for the execution of the late king.'"

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO BEATRICE GRIMSHAW, CONTINUED

I really felt sorry for her. For as I am more than ever convinced that it is her baby and Sydney Carton, Jack's friend, is the child's father. I do not want to know this for sure, however, because I would always have a feeling that it was my duty to try to bring about a wedding between the two. In some way I do not think Sydney Carton is suited to Paula Perier at all. As charming as she is, I have a feeling Sydney Carton, with all the virtues which go to make up a real personal righteousness, is too good for her. You don't know how disappointed I was when I first had a feeling that Sydney was too good for little Jack. I had thought of him as a man who perhaps I had protected more than any man I have ever known, more even than Jack. He seemed so stable that I did not want to think he would in any way wrong any girl. More than all, I did not want to think he would adopt a baby without telling me of a parentage.

Evidently he has told this to Jack because I am sure Jack knows all about it. By the way, Jack was very angry when I told him Miss Perier was coming here and it first positively forbade the visit. Of course, that made me much looser to have her come than before. I did not tell him, however, that Dick Summers was coming with her. I wanted to let him think we were going to have a fine visit all by ourselves.

He was very nervous and said some very profane things about the whole movie profession, that press agents and everything connected with them. Evidently upon her leaving the house, Jack made his appearance so promptly that I had a suspicion he was waiting at the corner drug store until she would leave. He came in with an air of fictitious gayety which did not fool me in the least. "Miss Perier has just gone," I said. "You should have come a little sooner."

"I did not want to see her," he growled. "I don't see why all you women are running after her just because she is in pictures. There are women who are on the list of patronesses today who would have resulted had they been introduced to her when she was in this town before. They hated her then because she was beautiful and they don't love her now any more than they did then. They are just curious."

"You can't say that of me, Jack," I said kindly, "for you must know I never knew Paula Perier. She left here before we were married. From what I have seen of her today I think she is a very sweet woman."

"Oh, she's that all right," said Jack, "but you seem to be the first woman I have ever known to find it out, at least acknowledge it. What did you talk about?"

CHAPTER VII Buckingham's Heroes

Miss Sylvia Farquharson occupied very pleasant lodgings in Salisbury Court, procured for her by Peter Ton, who had lived in her apartment. And it was in the doorway of Buckingham's house that she held the wolfish face of Bates.

This happened on that same morning when Colonel Holmes, at the moment of the hands of Allentide.

Miss Farquharson was in a good of dress material which she had been informed, were to be procured at a certain price in the city. On the third day she came forth in the early afternoon of that day and entered the sedan chair that awaited her at her door. As the chairmen took up their burden it was that looking from the unglazed window on the left side, toward the town, she found Betterton, she beheld that evil face protruded from the shadow of the doorway, as it peered upon her.

It took her a full half hour to reach her mirror, at the sign of the Silver Angel. On the opposite side, the chairmen moved slowly.

When at last her chair was set down at the door of the Silver Angel, she stepped out and passed in upon a business, over which no woman hurries.

It may be well that Master Bates—who had come shuffling after that chair with three tough bullocks following at a still greater distance—was something of a judge of feminine nature, and so came to the conclusion that it would be best for him to wait before Miss Farquharson emerged again.

He had noted in little crowd about the steps of Paul's, he had heard the burden of the preacher's message, and those wicked wits of his had perceived a fine opportunity set for the nasty little comedy which he was to continue on his Grace of Buckingham's behalf. It remained to bring the chief actor—the Duke, himself—at once within reasonable distance of the scene.

Master Bates slipped like a shadow into a porch, produced a pencil and tablets, and set himself laboriously to scrawl three or four lines. He folded his note, as one of the bullocks, summoned by an unostentatious signal, joined him there in the doorway.

With the note in his hand, he slipped a crown into the man's hand.

"This at speed to his grace," he snapped. "Take a coach, man, and make haste!"

Miss Farquharson made no haste. An hour passed and the half of a second, before she came forth at last, followed by the merest, laden with parcels, which, together with her self, were packed into the chair. The chairmen took up, and what the merest bowed him off double in obsequious gratitude to the famous actress, they swung along we toward by the way they had come.

Provided it would almost seem, was on the Duke's side that morning to assist the subtle Bute in the stake management of the affair. For it was not more than half an hour since the removal of that citizen who had been smitten with the pestilence at the very foot of Paul's steps when Miss Farquharson's chair came past the spot, making its way through a fear-ridden crowd fallen into voluble groups to discuss the event.

Suddenly dominating all other sounds, a harsh, croaking voice arose somewhere behind but very close to the chair.

"There goes one of those who have done the judgment of the Lord upon this unfortunate city!"

She heard the cry repeated with little variation again and yet again. Again the voice, but upward, shrilly, fiercely.

"There sits a playhouse wanton in her silks and velvets, while the God-fearing people, and the wrath of Heaven smites us with a sword of pestilence for the sin of her embraces among us."

Her chair rocked a little, as if her heart was being hustled, for in truth some three or four of the snarling sort, these scoundrels of the streets who are always on watch for fainting opportunities of turbulence, had joined that raving throng who followed her with his downy tapers, and were pressing in on the chair.

But her chairmen stood man and wife, who held her in the esteem she commanded of all who knew her, plodded steadily onward despite this jostling.

The head of the mob was alongside the chair now, brandishing a short cudgel and Mr. Farquharson, and a glimpse of his malevolent face. The chairmen, however, recognized it for the first time that had passed at her two hours ago from the shadow of Betterton's house in Salisbury Court.

You have seen one of yourselves snuffing down with the plague under your very nose, he was ranting. And I shall others be snuffing to pay for the sin of harboring with him this city in corruption."

Now, for all that, it was the naturally stout spirit in her frail white dress, Mr. Farquharson's wit, not at all impaired. This faintly to ride, but by the time she had reached the steps of Paul's Yard, for since he had been on the watch in Salisbury Court to observe her going forth and had followed her all the way thence, it was clear that the facts were quite otherwise, and that he acted upon a premeditated supposition.

And a man, who had followed her, was following the chairmen with great determination. The chair was tossed alarmingly, and Miss Farquharson, who was in the way, and that within it.

He had, but by that hostile mob, the chair came at last perforce to a standstill in the doorway of the Duke's house, on the steps of which Colonel Holmes was standing. He had been in the act of going forth upon the kind of finding a purchaser for his jewel, when his attention was drawn by the hubbub, and he stood arrested, frowning and observant.

The scene hurried him. The woman they were persecuting with their results, and in times might be no better than that dirty fanatic was pronouncing her. But she was a woman and helpless. And apart from this there was in all the world no vice that Holmes found more hideous than virtue driven to excess.

Over the heads of the crowd he saw the wildly rocking chair set down at last. Of its occupant he had but a confused glimpse, and in any case the distance at which he stood would hardly have permitted him to make out her face distinctly. But so much was necessary to conceive her condition, her peril, and the torment of fear she was suffering at the hands of these ignoble persecutors.

Colonel Holmes thought he might find pleasant distraction and at the same time perform a meritorious deed in shutting the ears of that black fanatic who was whipping up the passions of the mob.

But no sooner had he made up his mind to this, and before he could stir a foot to carry out his intention, a figure came suddenly and vigorously from another quarter.

How Late Dancing Changed the Shape of Pretty Mrs. Miles' Dainty Nose

On a Wall of the Rich and Smartly Decorated Apartment Is a Smudge of Blood, Lip Rouge and Eyebrow Make-Up That Tells Its Own Story

"Strathaird," the Birthplace and Home of Sidney E. Miles in Toronto, Canada.

Mrs. Grace Miles, Who Claims Her Nose Was Pushed Out of Shape by Her Husband.

Sidney Miles had just arrived in New York from his home in Toronto, Canada. Ever since he was a little boy he has had an income of $1,000 per month. It had been accumulating and he decided to visit New York and get rid of some of the surplus.

Apparently it was a case of love at first sight between Sidney and Grace, for they were married just a month after the evening that they so accidentally met at the corner of Broadway and Forty-second street. When the "surplus" was gone, they managed to pinch along on the $1,000 a month. Then, in 1915, Miles received another bequest of $30,000 in cash. That tidied them over for a while. They danced from night until morning, and apparently were very happy. They had been parted only once up to 1920. In that year Miles had to go to his old home in Canada to attend to some annoying detail about more money. But to show how loving he was, Mrs. Miles offered in evidence the following letter from him:

"Strathaird, Toronto, June 2, 1920. 'My Dearest Gracie: 'Sorry not to get this to you sooner, but there is a 'delay' in everything done in this 'Wick-hawken village.'

"I am registering you this— one hundred—and will send you more immediately. I hope, as I said in the wire yesterday, that I can be back in New York by the end of the week, with plenty of 'Summer dress money' for my baby. I have thought a great deal about you, and please, dear, don't think I am having any swell party. However, I will tell you all about what 'hicks' are when I get back.

"I was thinking you might enjoy a trip to Europe; and incidentally, now are we going to get rid of No. 42 East 18th? Maybe your mother and father would like to live there, and we can get something else when we get back—what say, Gracie?

"Be sure and advise me when you get this money, so that I will know if it is safe to shoot some more through. I am very anxious to see you, and hope to find you have been a good, sweet child. Always,

"Everlasting love,"

"SID."

When they got back from Europe they went to live at No. 150 West 10th street.

"They became too fond of his little drink," says Mrs. Miles.

"Gracie thought only of dancing," declares her husband.

So, after awhile, Sidney would sit at home with kindred spirits and Mrs. Miles would dance. She had some women friends to whom her husband objected, and that was what really started the trouble.

The first big row was when Miles is alleged to have dragged her about the apartment by her hair. But that was soon forgotten in the merry rounds of the dance.

One night last December, just at the jocos holiday season, Mrs. Miles, accompanied by a woman friend, Mrs. Helen Bodini, of Freeport, L. I., went to dance in the Gold Room of the Beaux Arts. There, according to her husband, they met Edmund D. Dier, former head of the stock brokerage firm of E. Dier & Co., which failed for several million dollars. They danced and danced and probably drank some. A kind friend telephoned Miles. He came, had one look and returned home to his kindred spirits.

It was 4 a. m., and the milkman, in his usual quiet way, had just called, when Mrs. Miles got home. There was a quarrel—quite a quarrel, they both admit. Mrs. Miles declared that her husband was brutally drunk. He says she was far from sober. In the argument that followed on dancing and other things, Miles is alleged by his wife to have seized her and pushed her face against the wall of the room, with such force that her nose was so disarranged that it never had its proper shape, and she never will. In proof of all of which she points to the wall itself, where, plainly visible, added by nose-rouge and gore, is the outline of her face, with a great smudge for a nose.

Despite all her efforts, she declares that she has since been unable to have her nose straightened out to what it was before this terrible experience, and she fears that she will have to carry it as it is throughout the remainder of her life.

She has given up late dancing since the change came in the shape of her nose, and declares she still has an abiding love for her husband.

WHEN Fannie Brice, the actress, had the shape of her nose changed from Grecian to retroussé she paid something like $5,000 for having the job done.

Grace Miles has just had the shape of her dainty nose changed from aquiline to stub. But she isn't going to pay anyone anything for the performance of the work. Far from it. Indeed, she has gone to court and demands that the man she alleges is responsible for the changed contour of her profile shall contribute the sum of $150 per week to her for the remainder of her natural life, and that, in addition, he shall hand over $5,000 to her attorneys for fees.

The chief difference in the two cases is that the shape of Fannie Brice's nose was changed by a surgeon, while the shape of Grace Miles' was changed by her husband. Another difference is that skilled hands, sharp instruments and tiny saws were used in the performance of Fannie's operation; but in the case of Grace, she was seized by the nape of the neck, she alleged, and her dainty little nose brought in contact with the very hard surface of a plaster wall.

Fannie Brice had the shape of her nose changed so she would be more attractive on the stage while singing and dancing. The shape of Grace's nose was changed because, her husband says, she danced so much she found to come home until she was weary of the company of the milkman.

Mrs. Miles and her husband, Sidney E. Miles, are very frank about the matter. Mrs. Miles, in addition to the charge that her husband flattened her nose, declares that he also pulled her about the nape of the neck, which isn't bobbed, and then let her down the stairs.

Mr. Miles, although he denies any intent of personal injury to his wife, admits that the charges became necessary for his own protection, and that the whole of the trouble was caused by her passing for late dancing.

"She has a one-track mind," he declares. "The only way to keep her in check is to tell her the truth."

And Grace, who holds her 'kerchief to her nose' and says:

"He is the best husband in the world, except when he gets rough, and I love him dearly."

Justice, then, of the Supreme Court, of New York, when he heard both sides of the story, gave Mrs. Miles temporary alimony of $50 a week.

They were married in 1913. Mrs.

Miles was the belle of Toledo, Ohio, where she grew up as Grace Holder. She was such a pretty girl that the neighbors always said, "Gracie should go into the movies." She heard it so often that she soon grew to believe it. But Toledo isn't much of a place for the making of movies, so she decided to go to New York. That was better, she figured, than Hollywood, because she could not only work in the movies, but appear on the stage as well.

For some reason there was no brass band to meet her when she arrived. And for some other reason the managers, moving and speaking, did not engage in a mad scramble for her services.

One evening she was hurrying down Broadway to keep an appointment, when, at the corner of Forty-second street, she collided with a strapping big, handsome man. The impact threw her off her balance. The stranger was so profuse in his apologies that he walked almost a block with her. When they parted he had secured permission from her to call.

That, of course, was the beginning of their romance.

Science Explains How Eye Exchange Elect Kisses

Our Optic Nerves
Revealed as De

Wave Leng

"In a glance of love the nerves of the lover's eyes send a wireless flash to the eyes of the girl just as Marconi's 'wireless light-house' flashes radio waves through the air."

SCIENCE has just discovered and catalogued—a new kind of kiss!

It is called the "electrical eye-kiss."

As a matter of fact, this kiss itself is as old as the Garden of Eden. It is the mutual thrill that sweethearts get when they gaze into one another's eyes.

But even poets and lovers, who should know most about it, have never suspected that it was anything more than a psychic and spiritual reaction.

Science now declares that there is an actual physical contact, produced by an electrical current that traverses the air from eye to eye, like the wireless waves that speed through space from one radio station to another!

Dr. Russell E. Simpson, president of the California Optometrists' Association, is responsible for this extraordinary discovery.

His theory is based, in turn, on experiments and discoveries made by Dr. George W. Crile, a leading American surgeon, author of a score of internationally accepted text-books on medical subjects, member of surgical societies in practically every country in Europe, and late senior consulting surgeon of the American Expeditionary Forces in France.

Dr. Crile's theory is that the human body is an electro-chemical organism, and that the "life stream" is an electro-chemical current, carried to the different parts of the body by the nerves, which act as wires.

According to this theory, when two people kiss in the usual way, with lips touching lips, an electrical contact is established, precisely as when the wires from the positive and negative poles of electric batteries are brought together.

If a kiss on the lips is preferred by lovers to a kiss, for instance, on the hand, it is because the moisture on the lips is a better conductor of electrical current than the dry skin.

Just as a spark is generated, accompanied by a flow and discharge of electricity, when two wires are brought together, so the meeting of two pairs of lips means the striking of a spark, and the merging for an instant of two electrical life-currents.

Now Dr. Simpson declares that the meeting of two pairs of eyes can strike this same spark and establish this current in the "electrical wireless eye-kiss."

Every youth who is or has been in love, knows that "something" does happen when he gazes profoundly into the depths of his sweetheart's eyes.

The situation has been described thousands of times in poems and novels. A young man is deeply in love. He doesn't dare to tell her so in words, and still less would he dare to kiss her on the lips. But he wants to make her feel and know that love has been awakened in him, and he hopes to awaken a similar emotional response in her.

What does he instinctively do, nine times out of ten?

He gazes, with all the intensity and power of which he is capable, into the girl's eyes—and if mutual love is there to be awakened, a sort of miracle happens.

She does "feel" the glance. She gets a distinct and real thrill, and both have a deep sense of mutual contact.

And now science attempts to explain exactly what it is that happens on such occasions.

The eyes are a bundle of exposed nerves, more sensitive than any others on the surface of the human body. In a glance of love the electrical current generated by the body itself is concentrated in the nerves of the lover's eyes, acting literally as a sort of wireless sending apparatus, which send out waves through the ether, concentrated and directed to the eyes of the girl, just as Marconi's "wireless lighthouse" is able to concentrate and direct radio waves, like the flash of a searchlight, in a given direction.

The nerves in the eyes of the girl act as a radio receiving apparatus, and what happens when the waves reach her eyes depends precisely on whether those nerves are "tuned in" like a radio apparatus, to the waves that are being sent to them.

If she, too, is in love, the vibrations coincide, and the actual electrical contact is established. If she is not in love, the receiving station of her eyes is not "tuned in" and the ardent glances fail.

When the contact is established and the vibrations coincide, it is believed that they travel, with the electric current, back through the optic nerve into the nerves of the brain, through certain of these to the region of the fourth ventricle, the place in the back part of the brain which is believed to be the centre of such emotions; thence downward along other nerves to a point in the neck, where they are picked up by the tenth nerve, or vagus, which carries them to the heart, which immediately begins to "glow" and beat more violently.

If Dr. Simpson's theory is correct it is probable that the human eye, under emotion, is capable of projecting var electrical waves that have nothing to do

The Old-Fashioned Lovers' Kiss (at Right), Which Establishes an Electric Contact, but Is Only to Be Preferred (According to Science) Because the Moisture on the Lips Is a Better Conductor Than Dry Skin.

When Honeymooners Touch Finger Tips and Look Into Each Other's Eyes Science Says the Same Electric Thrill Can Be Transmitted as in the Kiss Shown Above.

Diagram Reproduction of the Large Photograph at Left, Showing Points of Transmission on the Journey of the Electric Kiss. A Indicates the Optic Nerve, Which Passes the Flash on to B, the Region of the Fourth Ventricle or Emotional Centre, at the Back of the Brain. Thence the Vibrations Race Downward Along the Nerves to C, Where They Are Picked Up by the Tenth Nerve, or Vagus, and C to the Heart, D, Which Beats Violently.

Every one, at one time or another, man whose eyes were "flashing" with these flashes cross the glance of another who is also angry, there seems to be a jangling clash, in which both are as wireless waves of hate, which meet at sort of contact, but of a kind which compared to two rival wireless static if they happen to get into the same produce waves of violent discord.

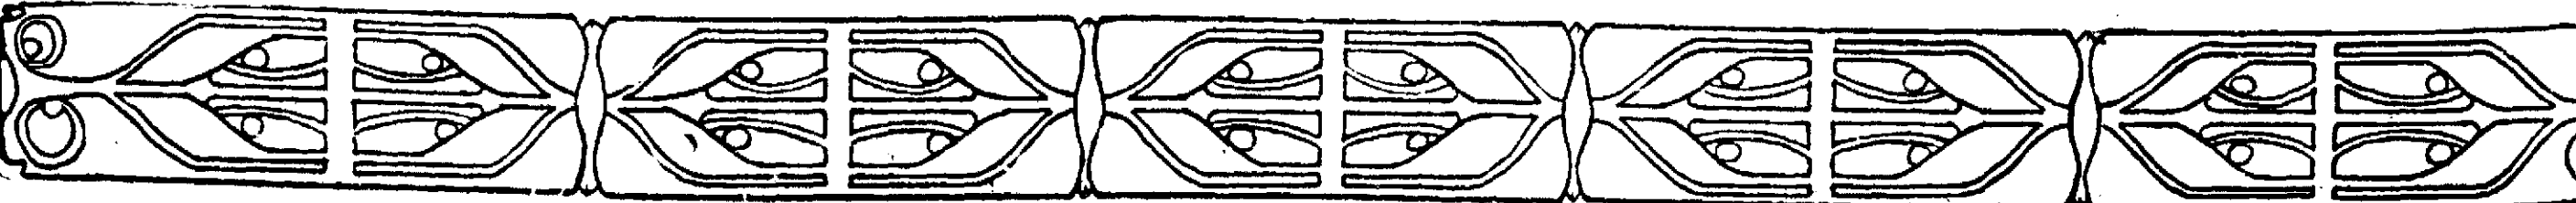

If, on the other hand, this flashing is an angry person falls upon the eyes of a passive and capable of being frightened thing seems to occur which is analogous happens when the waves from a violin set up vibration in a thin wine glass. A substance of the glass begins to vibrate, and if the waves from the violin are strong and lasting enough, the glass shatters. In the same way, if the glare of an angry man is of sufficient violence, and of the person on whom he gazes is sufficiently intense, the one who is frightened trembles, to shiver like the crystal glass in a crisis of nerves which is accurately in popular language as "going to pieces."

If the basic theory is true, that the body is really an electro-chemical organ, that the "life-spark" itself is an electric current, it is easy to understand, with the familiar of the radio, how the eye may really function this way.

The detailed arguments on which the theory rests are too technical for any untrained scientific mind to follow. But the principal striking facts that led to the conclusion is that the nerves of the human body are not made up of continuous and of filaments, but are formed of separated straight line, end-to-end on a table, by small gaps between the match ends. For emotion or emotion to travel through the nerves, for instance, from the eye to the brain to the heart, it must jump these gaps some way—and one of the reasons why believes the current is an electrical one electricity is the only known force that have the power to jump these gaps.

By this theory, the whole body is like a fashioned wet battery, which is a glass jar with salt fluid, sulphuric acid in solution, this jar two poles, one of copper and one of zinc. In the case of the body, the skin is the fluid is the blood and water in the body; salt; the two poles, instead of being a piece of copper and a piece of zinc, are the brain and the heart.

More than one poet has written of a "electrified by a glance" from her sweet eyes. Surely these poets did not suspect love and electricity were really identical a scientific viewpoint—but now science declares that the poetic analogy is based on actual that the thrill one feels when gazing into a one's eyes is literally electrical.

The American Girl Plans Picturesque Wedding Raiment

There you have the situation at present—you may choose between a gown that is straight and scant and a gown that is full and scant. The gown that is straight and scant is chosen for the bride who is tall and thin. The gown that is full and scant is chosen for the bride who is short and stout. The gown that is straight and scant is chosen for the bride who is tall and thin. The gown that is full and scant is chosen for the bride who is short and stout.

The long white glove is by no means a necessity. The lace veil sufficiently drapes the bare arm. When long gloves are worn they leave enough bare arm above to show that we have outgrown the old notion that "sleeves and gloves must meet."

It is safe to say that the American brides of the spring will wear more what they want to than what the dressmakers suggest, and the caprice of a spring bride is a rather uncertain quantity. It is safe to say that as the weeks and the gown that is straight and pass fewer silver cloth wedding scant.

FACTS OF FASHION

TRIMMINGS THAT ARE USED.

WILLOW OSTRICH fringes four or five inches long are used to make fringe both by the milliners and dressmakers. A striking evening gown of red has the hem of the skirt edged with a fringe of purple willow ostrich and some of the scarfs that milliners make to match hats are of silk crepe or georgette edged with willow ostrich fringe.

CHIPPED MARABOU and dove feathers have also been used by French dressmakers to trim evening and afternoon frocks.

BEADING on frocks and blouses is again in evidence. The smallest beads seem to be the ones selected, and tiny steel beads are used to work delicate designs on black velvet.

METALLIC GILT THREAD is used in combination with rich colors in the embroidery seen on many of the new party blue blouses. Green and rose embroidery is used against a background of black crepe.

LIZARD SKIN is used in narrow strips to trim sport hats and frocks.

PLAID RIBBONS are used in large measure by French milliners to trim sport and street hats. Sometimes entire hats are made of wide plaid ribbon. Plaids are also used for girdles and scarfs.

WOOL EMBROIDERY is considered very smart and is seen in white on white crepe.

Next week—Fabrics That Fashion Favors.

Two methods of arranging the bride's veil, one at lace, the other of net.

Above, the dowered bride dress is of white marquisette, with three wide lace flounces. The bridesmaid is in a frock of pale green taffeta trimmed in unusual fashion with loops of ribbon. The little flower girl wears a frock of white, much ruffled, and with a green ribbon sash.

THE BRIDESMAIDS

To design one's bridesmaids' costumes is the ambition and boast of many clever brides—though the high flight into the realm of designing sometimes means an anxious time for the dressmaker who has to carry out the amateur sketches. And of course not every bridesmaid is very eager to wear a frock designed by someone that knows no more of the subtle art of making women's clothes than she does herself.

One winter bride chose for her bridesmaids gowns of the chrysanthemum shades. There were six bridesmaids and a maid of honor and no two of the gowns were alike in color. Orange, gold, bronze and yellow were all used, but in shades that perfectly harmonized. This is really quite a trick—selecting some favorite flower as the source of the colors of bridesmaids' frocks. For the spring bride the crocus shades might be well selected or the yellows and greens of the daffodil. Orchid shades have been chosen for the color scheme of more than one winter wedding. Pink and mauve sweet peas would be a good source of inspiration with bouquets of sweet peas for each bridesmaid.

The smartest of bridesmaids' bouquets this winter have been of the formal sort, often arranged with a lace holder. Smaller bouquets of the same sort are carried by train bearers or flower girls. At a fashionable wedding recently the maid of honor carried instead of a bouquet a large flat sable muff, and at a recent wedding of notable the bridesmaids carried golden wands with sprays of flowers attached to the tops.

Usually, of course, the little flower girls carry baskets of flowers. At a recent wedding gilt baskets filled with roses and mignonettes were carried by these youthful attendants.

THE HEADDRESS

A CHAMPING headdress was that of the daughter of the late J. I. Carnation of the J. I. Carnation Co. A delicate lace and ribbon affair was arranged for her with the veil half pulled over her head. The bride's disposition toward the season's fashions is something of a puzzle in the way of headdress. The desire is not so much to wear what other brides are wearing, but something that will be unique. The one fashionable bride was a Juliet cap of silver filigree with long loops of orange blossoms dangling over each ear. A square of net, the ends of which barely reached to the shoulders, was clipped in still another.

Quite often there is a coronet of lace trimmed with orange blossoms and sometimes the orange blossoms alone form the coronet. Mere desire for distinction sometimes prompts a bride to discard some of the traditional accessories of brides and to introduce all sorts of little harmless innovations. One bride recently chose to dispense with a veil entirely and in its place to wear a little square of lace drawn low over the forehead and fastened with orange blossoms with the fullness gathered at either side and with not enough lace to spare in back even to cover the nape of the neck—a sort of glorified dust cap that happened to be quite becoming to the little bride who designed it.

THE BOUQUET

ORANGE blossoms and lilies of the valley seem still to be the favorite flowers for the bride's bouquet. Orange flowers and lilies they are frequently called nowadays by the bride who wants to be a little different. Orchids are sometimes used with the lilies of the valley, and sometimes white rosebuds are used with these fragrant lilies.

There is wider choice in the bridesmaid's bouquet. Frequently two or more different kinds of flowers are combined in a single bouquet. Sweet peas, roses and maiden hair ferns were recently made into a charming maid-of-honor bouquet, that was tied with golden-brown gauze ribbon. At a very brilliant wedding recently the blue-clad bridesmaids carried pink carnations and maiden hair ferns. Roses and snap dragons were chosen for another octette of bridesmaids dressed in dark rose. For the formal, lace-edged bouquet small roses with forget-me-nots are the usual choice.

White satin embroidered in gold is used in this bride's gown. There are long, snug sleeves. The train is of cloth of gold.

feel a species of thrill in wearing a gown so distinct. Their straight scant skirts of a day ago are now wide and full. The French girl—or rather her mother who probably has more to say about it than the American mother—is more contented with the select of her wardrobe. That is, she is more contented with the lead of other fashions. The lead of the season, feeling that it is a private occasion for high fashions, in costume designing. The bride is something a little more contented with the lead of the season's fashions. The bride is something a little more contented with the lead of the season's fashions. ## OTTAWA SOCIETY

The coming of Lent within the next few days means that society will make the most of the remaining time and the last of the numerous social events are being planned.

Principal events of the week will be the celebration of the forty-third anniversary of the organization of the Ladies' Continental Book club, to be held Tuesday night with Mrs. C. O. Heardsley. Members may each receive a gift.

Interest in the latter part of the week centers in the dinner to be held Friday night at the home of Mrs. J. H. Edwards. The dinner will be given for the benefit of the study club. Guests may be invited.

The committee on the dinner has planned a most interesting program of the dinner, which will be held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Edwards. The dinner will be given for the benefit of the study club. Guests may be invited.

SHARKS TRIM WOMEN OF $21,000,000 IN STOCKS

OAKLAND, Cal.—Bad investments have trapped many women in the United States in the last year, Mrs. George A. Higgs, a bank official and treasurer of the California Federation of Women's clubs, said in a recent address here.

"In 1922," she added, "$21,000,000 was lost by women in stock and bond investments. Thousands of women in the past two years have been led to invest their savings in the most precarious of wild cat schemes. Other women, coming suddenly into a sum of money, have not the slightest idea where it can be placed safely."

Mrs. Higgs pointed out that women depositors in banks now were nearly equal in number to men depositors.

The average woman to today, she said, does about 85 percent of the buying for the household, and women are coming to have increasing importance in the economic situation.

"There was a setting of great dignity, and I was struck with the serious attention given to the speeches. The house seemed permeated with a sense of the greatness of the things that were happening. As a member of the Labor party I felt that parliament was on the threshold of an experience to which we were unprepared for. ## House's Dignity Impresses Self On Woman M. P.

LONDON—Two women labor M. P.'s have given their impressions of parliament, after their first experience of a business day there, to the Evening News.

Mrs. Susan Lawrence said as she listened to the debate on the address, she felt it must be one of the most memorable sessions ever held. "The whole atmosphere of the house was most impressive to me," she declared.

What Six Percent Will Do For You If You Save $8 Per Month

The average man at 65 is dependent. There's certain way to be your own financial boss when the age is reached.

If you are 30 years of age now, start depositing $8 a month in a savings account here and by the time you are 65, you have accumulated $11,682.

To save $8 a month would mean only $3,36 total. Six percent compound interest makes up the difference.

SENIOR PLAY IS FRIDAY EVENT

Dramatics Continue to Hold Limelight at Central

Famed Sprinter Will Come on Lecture Course

Keeping in accord with the spirit of dramatics that seems to have pervaded the school the senior class of Central high school will present its annual play in the school auditorium Friday night. It is "His Mystery Bunker Bean."

The play, a farcical comedy in three acts was taken from the book by Harry Leon Wilson by Lee Wilson Budd, humorous writer. It permits of fine acting for the main characters and with the cast already chosen the production is expected to be full of life and mirth from beginning to end.

Donald Friedley, for the past three years prominent in Central dramatic circles, will play the part of Bunker, the easily led bachelor who finally falls for the "Flycatcher" leading ladies part taken by Miss Marie Bechtel. The way in which every one who comes along, pervades Bunker is the life of the play. Other parts will be taken by Howard Wood, Meredith Shifferly, Charles Wood, Meredith Shifferly, Fred Roberts, Frances Meade, Mark Nichols, Margaret Huston, Louis Pierce, Morris Kaplan, Meredith Morris, Guy McDonel, Himie Katchka and Marian Johnston.

Members of the junior class of Central high school will take their first venture in histrionic circles on March 24 when they present the comedy "Am I Intruding?" by Frederick G. Johnson.

A committee composed of Iez Benoit, Marion Cost and Donald Benoit met with Miss Izora Shumaker, director of the dramatic department and chose the play after much consideration.

Rehearsals for the play will be held next week. Miss Shumaker, director will be assisted by Misses Virginia Warner and Helen Craig.

Patrons of the Central lecture course will be treated to one of the most and best programs of the year when Charles William Paddock, editor of "The Fastest Man That Ever Lived" will deliver his famous lecture, "The Spirit of Sportsmanship," Sunday night.

Paddock's ability as an athlete of the highest caliber is eclipsed only by his own wonderful spirit of fair-play and good sportsmanship.

For the past four years Paddock has been the star of the University of Southern California track team and has been beaten in the dash event. He was the star of the American team at the last Olympics and is expected to run again this year.

A series of interesting talks delivered by Dr. W. C. Clippinger of Western university before Central students last week.

Clippinger divided the reasons for going to high school in four classes and because the law demanded social fellowship and studies. He stated that the last three reasons mixed well together would gain the students the most out of high school life.

Three interesting talks were given before the Geology club at its monthly meeting Wednesday. A talk on carbonates was given by Bill Schroeder. Russell Burgett talked on marble, while Charles Hanna has chapters for his subject.

Due to the fact that numerals for second team members did not arrive on time the awarding of letters and numerals to Central high graders was postponed next Friday.

At that time 14 letters will be awarded to first team members and eleven numerals will be given to substitutes.

Darrell Grove will probably be named by the junior class to take the place of Douglas Dole as junior business manager. Dole resigned last week and the junior class will be asked to elect Grove, Richard Cantieni, business manager of the Mirror, announces.

A one-act play "Aunt Harriet's Night Out" will be given at the weekly meeting of the Dramatic club Wednesday, Miss Izora Shumaker says.

Parts were given out at the last meeting and those who were favored are William Kirk, Elizabeth Breckenridge, Ethel Lotzoff, Ray Eversole. Miss Marian Cost will direct the play.

A special meeting of the "C" association will be called Monday by President Bob King. Arrangements will be made for a banquet in honor of Charlie Paddock.

A committee to take care of the arrangements will be appointed by King. The affair is expected to be one of the biggest on the "C" association's program for this semester.

"Resolved that Albert B. Fall and Edwin Denby be tried for using public offices to defraud and accepting bribes and as civil officers should receive the full punishment of the law" will be the resolution which the senate will act upon at the meeting next Wednesday.

Much interest has arisen in the debating body over the present scandal and Wednesday's program.

Grace Busick, for several years connected with the Lima schools, has resigned and will enter the College of Commerce and Journalism at Ohio State University on March 24.

Dr. Harry Myers, of Mansfield, will be the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Tuesday noon at Barr Hotel. Don Johns will sing.

MARKET INQUIRY CONTINUED

Bingham Seeks Further Facts from Municipalities

LOCAL ROW NOT SETTLED

Quiz Continues Into Charges of Exorbitant Prices

City Manager C. A. Bingham is to continue his investigation of municipally operated markets in other Ohio cities before recommending changes in legislation governing the local market house, he announced Saturday.

In response to authority vested in him by commissioners upon complaint of conditions by hucksters who charged they were discriminated against at the city market, Manager Bingham communicated with other cities and received responses from five cities.

$5 PER DAY
Martins Ferry charges $5 a day for hucksters or a rate of $50 a year in comparison to $25 a year license demanded in Lima.

Piqua imposes a $50 levy for trucks and $25 for each huckster's wagon. In Warren an annual license of $100 is levied or a fee of $1 a day, while in Lorain the fee is pro-rated at $100 a year to $1 a day with restrictions that hucksters are not to call out their wares. Findlay charges $2 a day.

Possibilities are very remote, observers say, for a curb market in Lima as advocated by hucksters who petitioned for privilege of backing their trucks in front of the S. Main-st market house and selling from their trucks.

Large cities have curb markets, but in cities the size of Lima, municipal markets are operated, is the trend of information received by Manager Bingham.

PRICE PROBE
Investigation of market prices here indicate that prices are on a level with those in up town market-houses or even higher, according to Manager Bingham whose fight against stall owners in the city market centers on alleged exorbitant prices.

"Stall owners in up town markets pay as high as $150 a month rent and their prices are no higher than prices in the city market where rentals average from $6 to $24 a month," City Manager Bingham said. "On this basis alone, I believe lower prices should prevail at the municipal market."

FUNERAL ANNOUNCED
Funeral services will be held Sunday at 1:30 p. m. in Congregational church for Mrs. Mary Whittington, 85, who died Friday afternoon at her home at Gomer of complication of diseases. Interment will be made in Gomer cemetery. She has been failing in health for the past month. The deceased is survived by three daughters and two sons.

FARMER MAKES ASSIGNMENT
Debts amounting to $1,500 which he was unable to meet compelled H. F. Miller, Spencer-tp farmer, to make an assignment in probate court Saturday in favor of Clarence H. Klinger, attorney, assignee, who was authorized to settle up his affairs. Bond in the sum of $3,000 was given. Property assigned by Miller comprises farm tools and implements.

HEADS ANTIS

Arthur J. Davis (above), of Boston, has been elected to succeed William H. Anderson as superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League in New York. Anderson recently was convicted of forgery. Davis admits liking a "good show," and says he "smokes" any kind of a cigar.

F. J. BANTA & SON CO. INSURES ITS EMPLOYEES

Group insurance for the employees of the F. J. Banta & Son Co., who have been with the concern six months or more, has been adopted by the company, it was announced Saturday.

Individual insurance policies, ranging in value between $500 and $1,000 will be given to each employee. These will be graded in accordance to the length of time the worker has been with the company. New employees will obtain the insurance after they have been with the company six months.

Entire costs of the insurance will be borne by the company as long as the employee is with the company. Benefits in case of death are to be paid to the beneficiary and in case of permanent disability before the age of 60, the worker will obtain the benefit.

Insurance was placed with the Equitable Life Insurance Co. T. Carl Jansen represented the insurance company and F. J. Banta the local firm.

SOLDIER WHO DOESN'T READ IS DISAPPEARING

LONDON—The old-time British soldier who scorned reading is fast disappearing, and there is a growing demand for good books and magazines in army libraries.

Recently the war office ordered the classics made available for enlisted men. Blood and thunder literature, however, still holds first place with Tommy Atkins.

Among recognized works those of Dickens hold first place 50 years ago; then Kipling became the vogue, with Shaw and Wells receiving some attention. Poetry does not seem to be popular with the soldier, altho the song has had its place in army literature.

MOTHER!

Child's Best Laxative is "California Fig Syrup"

Harry Mother! A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" now will thoroughly clean the little bowels and in a few hours you have a well, playful child again. Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love its pleasant taste.

Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother, you must say "California." Refuse any imitation.—Adv.

SHORT SHAVINGS

HALF THE FUN OF BEING IN DEBT LIES IN RECEIVING THE NICE BLOTTERS THE COLLECTION AGENCIES SEND WITH THOSE "PLEASE REMIT" NOTICES—

DEAN OF MALL

"Come over and see the new Smith," said a friend, "this is the great thing about it."

"What is it?" asked. "What is a Smith?" we came back and explained the friend.

Linnell, who is a portrait painter, who has come to America to paint the most beautiful woman in the world, a good deal of money.

We are afraid it was not taking this for seriously enough. He hasn't cussed yet.

A SCHOONER OF SUDS, ETC. Of course the times have changed. But don't it strike you funny. There was a time when folks would call a nickel money.

Of course times have changed. As do all things to be sure. But in those olden days you could get a nickel for a nickel.

NO MAIDEN NAME FOR HER

A colored woman came into the office of the state, for which she worked, to receive her monthly wages. As she could not write, she always made a cross on the receipt. But on this occasion she made a circle.

"What's the matter, Linda?" the man in charge asked. "Why don't you make a cross as usual?" "Why," Linda explained earnestly, "Ah done got married yesterday and changed my name."

On Readin' Up

MRS. EM MOPPS SPREADIN' TH' NEWS

There's so blamed many things I read up on an' be able to discuss these times that it would be little short of wonderful if any two people would get together an' both know anything about whatever subject they talked about. There's so much time devoted to having a good time, to diversions of one sort or another, that intellectual people are gettin' scarce an' scarce, an' those that are intellectual are gettin' rusty. After makin' a careful survey coverin' a couple of years, Hon. Ex-Edition Cal Fluhart declares that only one person out of forty knows what they talkin' about. Many people have a little scattered superficial knowledge gathered from the newspaper headlines an' word of mouth, but they're not well informed enough on any subject to talk over a minute about it. An' the worse thing about this density, all this ignorance, is that opinions are growin' at a high rate of speed, an' are freely expressed, opinions coverin' everything from prohibition to Italian diplomacy, anthracite earnings, wheat growin', the divorce evil, an' the future of Dalmatia. There's enough important questions, domestic an' foreign, to afford ever-buddy a chance to pick out jest what suits 'em. Let us all select somethin' an' go out! It thoroughly an' learn all about it an' maybe we'll run int' somebuddy that we kin discuss it with. It's no fun to know anything if we can't get an audience, an' besides, folks that read up feel selfish goin' about full of information an' mizin' with people that don't know nothin'. We're allus surprised when we talk to people that know somethin', surprised that we're so dumb, an' surprised to find somebuddy that knows somethin'. It's really gettin' so intellectual people are offensive, they make us feel like thirty cents. We hear people sneer because "a few intellectuals git together."

We think it's wonderful that there's enough of them to git together. They say it's hard to git by without an education, but we don't know where they git that stuff. On the contrary, it must be awful tryin' to git by with one. We think one good scheme to make folks set down an' read, would be to do away with newspaper headlines, and then the four-flushers can't flippantly observe, "That wuz some earthquake in Japan!" or "The coal strike's been settled!" or "My, but a lot of people wuz killed Sunday." We recall one o' the time Bryan wuz defeated, Mrs. Em Mopps rushed thro' the streets cryin', "Roosevelt's got it, Roosevelt's got it!" an' we asked, "Got what?" an' she replied, "I don't know, but he's got it."

WIERD, creeping, annoying sensation—scratch—scratch—scratch—eczema and other skin eruptions, spilling your complexion—causing you uncalled for embarrassment—anguish—ruling your temper. All because of impurities that are rampant in your system—because your red blood cells are dormant.

S. S. S. clears up skin eruptions through its power of cleansing the blood. Herbs and barks, carefully selected and scientifically prepared and proportioned, which make up the ingredients in S. S. S. are the most feared and dreaded enemies of skin disorders. Eczema, pimples, boils, blackheads and other skin diseases pack up and leave the system when S. S. S. sends new rich blood coursing through your veins.

Have a general house cleaning for your system. Let S. S. S. rid you of those impurities which tend to keep you in a run-down condition. Skin disorders are nothing more than bill-boards announcing that the system is "off color." S. S. S. is sold by the leading drug stores. The large size bottle is the more economical.

The Assurance of Good Health

In old age, is more dependable if you have a large number of teeth that will masticate food. An aged person, who has but five or six teeth, is one sure evidence of neglect of teeth in youth.

You will have an enjoyment of good teeth when you need them the most, if you give them proper care at once.

The one reason that gets my attention, brings more patients—my patrons find it a pleasure to induce others to give me a call.

A Business Story

Rich in meaning to every motor car buyer

How Studebaker reached the heights

THE story of Studebaker has been told by many men in many ways. Now let us tell it to you.

Studebaker growth has in late years been Motordom's sensation. Sales have mounted until last year 145,167 buyers of quality cars selected Studebakers. They paid $201,000,000 for them.

All must realize that a new situation has arisen in high-grade cars. You who are interested should now analyze the reasons.

72-year traditions

The Studebaker principles have become traditions in their 72 years of existence. They have never wavered. In all changing conditions they have brought new luster to that name.

Men come and go, but a name like this becomes a heritage to foster and enhance. That's what we've done — we who have that name in keeping for a time.

Studebaker has always been a leader. For two generations it led in horse-drawn vehicles, now products of the past.

Most of you remember Studebaker carriages — queens of their time. They were used by multitudes of people who loved quality and style.

When motor cars succeeded them, Studebaker became the logical leader in that field. Any other place would have been an anomaly.

The only way to the top

A concern of this age has one fact ingrafted in its fiber. The only way to leadership is through super-service.

The leader must excel in all you seek — in quality, in beauty and in value. There is no other way to the top. Every stretch of the road is strewn with wrecks of those who tried another.

What others say — not what you say — determines your place in the long run. In every field of endeavor one must accept that fact.

We had the money, the plants, the prestige. We had the incentive of Studebaker traditions. In time we secured the men.

We told those men to build for us the utmost in fine motor cars, regardless of all costs. We pledged them our good faith and our resources.

The cost was $50,000,000

We built new factories — modern plants. We fitted them with new equipment — 12,500 up-to-date machines.

Find Out Why

People paid $201,000,000 last year for Studebaker cars.

The result is now a demand for 150,000 per year.

Over $50,000,000 in modern plants and equipment to build the finest of fine cars.

One of these cars, built in 1918, has run 475,000 miles. That means 80 years of ordinary service. In December this car made the trip from coast to coast.

Of the $50,000,000 in our plants and equipment, $32,000,000 has been invested in the past five years. So it represents the last word in efficient manufacture.

We established a Department of Methods and Standards, to fix for every Studebaker detail the maximum of quality.

We created a Bureau of Research and Experiment, employing 125 skilled men. They make 500,000 tests per year to maintain our supremacy.

They fixed countless standards, including 35 separate formulas for steels. Then on the most important steels we offered makers a bonus of 15% to conform to those standards exactly.

We invested $8,000,000 in a drop forge plant to make all our own drop forgings. $10,000,000 in body plants to build all bodies to our standards.

We employed 1,200 skilled inspectors to see that all standards were fulfilled. There are 30,000 inspections on Studebaker cars during manufacture, before they go out from the factory.

That's the whole story

That's about the whole story. We simply followed the never-changing Studebaker principles. We gave to our buyers the utmost — values they could not match. Then they turned by tens of thousands to Studebaker cars.

Over 750,000 of those cars have gone out. Their performance has developed a demand for 150,000 per year.

Every increase in sales brought a lowered cost, which we promptly gave our buyers. Today these fine cars are offering values which no rival can approach. They have made us the world's largest builders of quality cars.

We deserve a hearing

Now we deserve a hearing. All who consider a car at $1,000 or over should learn what Studebaker offers. That in fairness to yourself and us. Check one by one the advantages we offer. You'll find them by the score.

Remember that 145,167 who did that last year chose a Studebaker car. There are nine chances in ten that you'll do it.

Consider our record, our accomplishments, our policies and principles. Consider that we have $90,000,000 at stake on satisfying men like you. Don't buy a car in this high-grade class without seeing what we give.
